

Creating spaces of experience: learners' diary meeting 5 in Brussels – June 20

End of June the members of the EU-project „creating spaces of experience“ came together for a last meeting in Belgium to discuss the results of what was worked out the passed two years.

On Wednesday evening, after arriving in Brussels, we met our project partners in a nice little restaurant to welcome each other and have dinner.

Next morning we all went by train to Eupen to visit the ministry of the German-speaking community. There we met the representatives of education policy.

First the project members presented their different activities and explained how they are realizing their work. After that we listened to lectures about Belgium and European adult education policy and connected it afterwards in a discussion to our own project work. Then we were thinking in groups about what qualities learning places need and the meaning of competences.

In the evening we went back to Brussels and enjoyed dinner in a traditional Belgium restaurant.

On Friday we came together in a conference room close to the EU Commission to resume the results of the project and the several meetings at different project partners in Karlsruhe, London, Corsica, Tübingen and finally in Brussels.

Very effective especially for us was the possibility to reflect the impulses we have received in this meeting.

Important impulses for our individual work.

The notable result in the meeting was we could develop a vision for common future projects.

After all this inspiring exchange we ended this project on Friday night eating French fries and watching all together the quarter-final of the European football championship.
