

Creating Spaces of experience : learning diary meeting 1 in Karlsruhe, October 21st – 24th 2010

by Beatrice Martins

The launching committee of the Grundtvig partnership project entitled “Creating Spaces of experience” took place in a very friendly mood. The topic sounds quite unusual but very interesting : experiencing learning/teaching in different environment (will) allow(s) creativity without (almost) any bounds. The different experiences we have had during our meeting were very rich in terms of quality and diversity:

- we visited Initial garden where alcohol addicted persons work and grow organic vegetables,
- we had lunch at Bistro Initial :restaurant where unemployed people cook the vegetables grown in the Initial garden,
- we visited a private flat where the host lady welcomes artists and displays for sharing, discussing, exhibiting their art, etc.
- we cooked and ate all together a typical South-German meal for one of our dinner.

Thanks to our host partner : I have liked very much experiencing those miscellaneous creative spaces!
